Rhubarb Conserve.
With the rhubarb season at its height,
the housewife who enjoys sweetmeats
with her cold meat or bread and butter in winter surely must not fail to make a supply of rhubarb conserve. This is the recipe:—Peel and cut the rhubarb into inch lengths; to six pounds of the fruit allow an equal amount of sugar. Extract the juice from two lemons, two oranges and, removing the seeds, run the pulp and rind through the food chopper. Add to this the rhubarb and then add a large cupful of chopped almonds, the same amount of chopped English walnuts and a half a pound of dates stoned and cut in half. Let the mixture stand in a covered crock or earthenware dish over night. In the morning put on the stove, where it will come to a boil slowly, boil until it jellies, then pour into jelly glasses and when cold cover with paraffin.
Occasionally the rhubarb is so tart that a little more sugar is necessary; if so, add to taste.

Life a Pleasure.

Dear Editor:—To the question asked
by so many of my old friends, "What will you do without your outdoor life,
tied down by household cares," I would like to give a little idea how the "great outdoors" is still alive to enjoy.
My first summer was spent in a camp
in New Hampshire within view of the
"White Hills," and last fall I very wisely
chose a home in this little village among
the mountains, on the line of the G.
R. and within easy access to the largest villages and cities. The winter was indeed a bit lonely, but the summer is more than paying for that now.

Although only the distance of a little more than the width of Norway's main street from the postoffice and store, yet my home, being under a small hill, has but one neighbor's house in view, and even that is now almost hidden by the tall maples surrounding it. Just the great mountains, crowding each enough to seemingly touch the head,
bend, greet the eye in every direction,
and the road winds past to the Andro-scoggin.

My home itself, a simple little brown country house, sets in the center of about a half acre of land, and faces the west.
The front lawn has several raised flowerbeds all seeded with various cultivated blossoms to be. The south rising gradually toward the village ridge has a circle of eight white birches and two pine trees. In their shade I have swung my hammock. And here are my wild flowers, growing in their own sweet pleasure, some naturally and some carefully transplanted during the pleasant spring days. Blue violets have smiled to me every where in the recent grass, and now the strawberry blossoms and a few raspberry bushes promise a little feast later.

The north side slopes away from the veranda to the garden, which extends around to the east, and is surrounded by a small orchard of a dozen nice trees, apple, pear, plum and cherries, while a few currant bushes will add their little offering in due time. The trees were very lovely some weeks ago with their fragrant white blossoms. Birds are building all around and their morning songs
have greeted us throughout the spring.
The veranda is my favorite resting place. This I have had completely screened for an outdoor room and fitted up exactly like a camp, with couch, chairs, table, pictures, etc. etc. A living-room for a hot day, a splendid sleeping porch at night.

A rising line of post card views of Pennesseewassee from channel to brook lined fastened in correct order on one wall gives me a frequent "dream trip" up the lake. Just a glance recalling many of old friend's face and pleasant incident of the past.

My housework is done in the early morning when the kitchen fire is really welcome. I very seldom have hot dinners to get as the day is mine to enjoy as I please. Wild River is not far away, and that offers good fishing, while the Androscoggin gives me canoeing. There I can paddle for more than six miles into New Hampshire, wading boat and out among the hills of the narrow valley.
This trip is truly as lovely as the now famous Songo, aye to me it is even more beautiful, for the mountains give an added charm. Whenever I wish, I take a paddle, sometimes carrying a lunch and spending a whole day just as I wish to on my old home lake. And this will be often, for all who know me truly, know
that canoeing is my favorite of all outdoor pastimes.

There are many lovely walks to enjoy.

Only two mountains have I climbed
as yet, Saddleback and Tumble-Down
Dick, besides one high hill, but I hope
to tramp them all in the future.
How do I plan my work? I mentioned to the early morning as I mentioned before, and every rainy day I try to do
all things possible to make the next fair
day's work less. As in camp the early morning hours were the nicest part of
a summer's day so it is in the country
home. Here the sun climbing triumphantly over the mountain tops, greeted by a sweet chorus of varied bird songs is vastly different from a village sunrise
over the blackened chimney of a shoe factory and the monotonous "chip,"
"chip" of the English sparrows.

Aside from the necessary "mending"
and occasional machine work, sewing,
which constitutes so much of the average woman's life, has no part whatever in mine. And herein lies another secret of time for the outdoors. Of course
some portions of some days are prosy
enough, as every housewife knows, but
with a happy combination of my old life
with the new these days are passing
swiftly and pleasantly.

And all the time there is a little life
being woven day by day with our own,
a little life to watch and care for and guide
and love. This is the greatest joy of all.
Three lives thus blended together, living
only for the other, brings a deeper, truer
happiness than a selfish life of pleasure.
Like the unfolding of a flower-bud each
day sees a change.

Hand in hand we'll lead our baby
Where the brightest sunbeams play
And the fairest flowers are blooming
All along life's future way.
We will smooth away the tangles
Where the little feet must tread
We will strive to guide our darling
Where the Savior's steps have led.
Sometimes we may grow weary
With life's burdens day by day,
And our feet drop down at last;
Over the rough thorns in our way;
Then 'twill be those baby fingers
Reaching toward us from the light
That will smooth away the tangles
Love will make it all come right.

Each day the baby-mind is waking to
the outside world, and he loves the outside world already. Every suitable day
he sleeps on the screened veranda, lying an hour at a time after his nap just watching the treetops moving against the sky. He enjoys his daily rides in the carriage which is well adapted to the country roads, having the best of springs
and with perfect protection from sun
and wind.

Such is my life—work in the early morning, mid-day and afternoon varied
with simple outdoor pleasure, suited to the baby-life, and then when the western hills, glowing with love cradle the weary sunbeams, then comes "Rock-a-by,"
dearest of all the day to the true mother-
heart.

Sleep, my little one, sleep tonight,
Mother's arms are round you tight.
Lay your head on mother's breast,
Close your little blue eyes and rest.
Sleep, my little one, go to sleep,
Mother will a fond watch keep.
She will never close her eyes and rest,
While her baby boy sleeping lies.
Do not worry, do not fret,
Mother's arms are round you yet,
Mother's love will shield you, dear,
Do not worry, mother's here.

And so, dreaming and planning for my boy's future, as all mothers do, I am very happy in my new life-home, and
yet out of doors.
HOESEN GARDNER (GREGG) GATES,
Gilead, Me.

Life a Pleasure.

Dear Editor:—To the question asked
by so many of my old friends, "What will you do without your outdoor life," I have answered, "I would like to give up a little of my indoor life, but I would not give up my outdoor life." I would like to give up a little of my indoor life,
but I would not give up my outdoor life.
My first summer was spent in a camp
in New Hampshire within view of the
"White Hills," and last fall I very wisely
chose a home in this little village among the mountains, on the line of the G. T.

spending a whole day just as I used to
on my old home lake. And this will be
often, for all who know me truly, know
that canoeing is my favorite of all outdoor pastimes.

There are many lovely walks to enjoy. Only two mountains have I climbed
as yet, Saddleback and Tumble-Down
Dick, besides one high hill, but I hope
to tramp them all in the future.

How do I plan my work? I mentioned
before, and every rainy day I try to do
day's work less. As in camp the early morning hours were the nicest part of
a summer's day so it is in the country
home. Here the sun climbing triumphantly over the mountain tops, greeted by
a sweet chorus of varied bird songs is
vastly different from a village sunrise
over the blackened chimney of a shoe
factory and the monotonous "chirp,"
"chirp" of the English sparrow.
Aside from the necessary "mending"
and occasional machine work, sewing,
which constitutes so much of the aver-
age woman's life, has no part whatever in mine. And herein lies another great time for the outdoors. Of course
some portions of some days are prosy
with a happy combination of my old life
with the new these days are passing
swiftly and pleasantly.

And all the time there is a little life
being woven day by day with our own,
a little life to watch and care for and guide
and love. This is the greatest joy of all.
Three lives thus blended together, living
only for the other, brings a deeper, truer
happiness than a selfish life of pleasure.
Like the unfolding of a flower-bud each
day sees a change.

Where the brightest sunbeams play
And the fairest flowers are blooming
All along life's future way
We will smooth away the tangles
Where the little feet must tread;
We will strive to guide our darling
Where the saving steps are led.
Sometimes we may grow weary
With life's burdens day by day,
And our feet about aged feet;
Over the rough stones in our way;
Then 'twill be those baby fingers
Reaching toward us from the light
That will smooth away the tangles

the outside world, and he loves the out-
side world already. Every suitable day
he sleeps on the screened veranda, lying
an hour at a time after his nap just
watching the treetops moving against
the sky. He enjoys his daily rides in his carriage which is well adapted to the
and with perfect protection from sun
and wind.

with simple outdoor pleasure suited to
hills, glowing with love cradle the weary
sunbeams, then comes "Rock-a-by,"
dearest of all the day to the true mother-
heart.

Sleep, my little one, sleep tonight,
Mother's arms are round you tight,
Lay your head on mother's breast.
Close your little blue eyes and rest.
Sleep, my little one, no to sleep,
Mother will a fond watch keep,
She will never close her eyes and rest.
While her baby boy sleeping lies.
Do not worry, do not fret,
Mother's arms are 'round you yet,
Mother's love will shield you dear,
Do not worry, mother's here.

And so, dreaming and planning for my
very happy in my new life-home, and
yet out of doors.

The Oxford Pomona met with Upton
Grange on Friday, June 23. Members of the Pomona began to arrive as early as Wednesday, and they kept raving, on horseback, by one, two and three horse teams, and also by autos. It is estimated that 175 took dinner at the hall and it is safe to say they all seemed to enjoy the day. The Upton members certainly did. Perfect weather. The dinner was excellent, and our new hall
only drawback was that our new hall wasn't completed at this made it hard for the officers to confer the degree.

We are informed that the First National Nurseries of Rochester, N. Y., desire a lady or

Losers.

There are thousands to cheer for the victor, my boy.
There are thousands to yell when he comes.
There are music and songs for his ear to cheer.
For him the world rattles her drums.
There are thousands of shoulders to bear him on high.
There are thousands of men to attend him;
But think of the loser, who leaves with a sigh.
The field, without one to befriend him.
There are thousands, yes, millions of people to cheer.
The hand of the winner to shake;
To brush all the wrinkles of trouble away
And follow along in his wake.
Every face that he sees is a face with a smile,
Every word that he hears is a word of cheer;
But think of the loser, who leaves all the while
For the frown that may never appear.

WEST SUMMER.

George E. Pulsifer, who has been away on business, returned the week end.

Dr. H. F. Atwood has bought a new Ford touring car of Fletcher & Ripley, the first at West Sumner.

Al. Hadley, and family of Norway, who have been visiting with E. Cox and Henry Davenport, returned on Saturday.

Albert Cox, grandson of Edwin Cox, who was operated on some time ago for a tumor on his right side, is improving slowly.

We are glad to see Rymore opened again. Deaconess Clark and two servants from Philadelphia, Pa., arriving Saturday, July 1st.

Mrs. Clementia Abbott, who has been staying with her sister, Mrs. H. J. Howe, for most of the past year, went to Rumford, Monday.

Mrs. Angie Robbins met with an accident, though not very serious, as she was driving home from Norway, Saturday. The horse fell throwing her out on the horse. Luckily there were no bones broken.

The Fourth was ushered in with the ringing of the church bell and some other demonstrations other than the firing of torpedoes and fire crackers. Scams of our young men gave several selections of music, among the rest was that grand old hymn, America, "My Country 'Tis of Thee, sweet land of liberty," by S. E. Smith. On the whole the patriotism of '76 was somewhat awakened.

WEST FRYEBURG.

There are many of us on the west side of Fryeburg who will miss the efficient and obliging services of the late acting postmaster, Mrs. Annie S. Harrington. Government losses too a faithful and conscientious official in her retirement.

The Stirling Literary club at its last meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Andrews enjoyed a rare treat in the reading by Miss Ballard of a fine selection descriptive of the city of Pittsburgh, Penn. Ice cream was daintily served by the hostess at the close of meeting.

From Inside.

The loss of the battleship Maine was caused by the explosion of her three magazines. No such effect as that produced upon the vessel could have been caused from an explosion from without. Such is the opinion of General William H. Bixby, chief of engineers, U. S. A.

Henry G. Beyer, jr., of Portland, representative in the 17th Legislature, who conducts two large dairy farms, one in Scarborough and the other at Pond Cove, Cape Elizabeth, is the proud recipient of a prize from the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, taken by one of his Holstein cows. This association is recognized by the United States government as an authority on pure bred stock.

The bulk of the laws passed by the Legislature, which adjourned on March 31, or all of them which did not go into effect immediately through an emergency provision, because effective on Saturday July 1. None of them has been ordered to a referendum vote by the people. The initiative and referendum feature of the Maine constitution imposes a 90 days' probation period on all acts, unless two-thirds of all the members of the Legislature consider any act an emergency measure and vote for its passage with their reasons for so doing prefixed to the bill in the shape of a preamble.

Terrific Thunder Shower.

One of the worst thunder showers that has visited Norway and this section in years was in evidence Thursday afternoon. At a few minutes past one, almost without warning, the clouds commenced to roll up in a copper hue and the lightning began to flash.

In only a few minutes more darkness began to cover the earth and there was a general down-pour, tempered, with one continual roar of thunder and flashes of lightning that lasted for about an hour. There was considerable damage done during the shower. The elm tree opposite the Ryerson place on Main street was blown down across the street and took with it all the wires along the opposite side of the street. A crew of men were soon at work repairing it after the shower.

The maple tree in front of Masonic block on Cottage street blew down, breaking the telephone pole off and disconnecting some of the wires.

Harry Jackson's farm buildings in Milletville were struck by lightning and were burned to the ground.

The lightning struck two large maple trees just back of O. P. Brooks' barn on Pleasant street, took them clean off. Pleasant street was also struck. Trees were blown down at H. J. Bangs', Howard Smith's and John Hazen's.

The hay barn belonging to Geo. Wood at the meadow was blown partly away. The lightning struck the wires several times and there were several fires on the switch board at the power station at one time. The electricity came in on the telephone wires at Oscar Bennett's and Mrs. Bennett was made unconscious for some time. It also struck the corner of O. A. Richardson's barn but did not set it on fire.

Thursday was also a circus day and a fine parade was on the streets at noon. The people had just begun to arrive on the grounds in the afternoon when the shower began. They soon took refuge on the grand stand, and in only a few minutes the large tent and all the side show tents were blown down.

where the animals were was then let down, the animals having been taken out.

The electric power was put out of commission during the afternoon and that is the reason the ADVERTISER is so late in arriving this week.

GILEAD.

Fourth of July. A bright warm day favored Gilead's 4th. The horses and Gilead's cornet band were at the station to meet the 8:40 train which brought a number from Berlin, Gorham and Shelburne. Three prizes offered to the most horrible "horror" were won by W. C. Harriman, a comical clown; A. S. Frazier, a blue gowned clown; and Sumner Griffin as a typical old maid.

The ball game at 9 a. m., Shelburne vs. Gorham, proved a tie of 3 to 3. In the afternoon picked men from these teams played Gilead and were beaten by our home team 15 to 0.

Winners of the day's program were: Wheelbarrow race..... Wesley Wilson. Obstacle race..... Ruby Percival. Standing broad jump..... Ruby Percival. 80 yard dash..... Peter Peterson. 100 yard dash..... Peter Peterson.

A $2 bill was fastened to the top of a greased pole and the contestants rubbed themselves in sand and strove valiantly to reach the prize. No one succeeded. Clarence Wilson climbed the highest and after much discussion was awarded the money.

Ice cream, sodas, etc., were served from a small booth and the noon hour was spent in the shadow of Riverside Park with picnic lunches.

The Gilead band assisted by E. A. Steady, E. A. Cody and Frank Morel of Berlin, furnished music at intervals through the day.

The dance in the evening with music by the Peerless orchestra was well attended.

Ned Burnell of Norway was at Chester Gates' over the 4th.

Lillian Wheeler of Bethel has visited her uncle, Herbert Wheeler.

Mrs. Fred Moore and daughter Frances of Gorham spent the 4th in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Heath and little daughter were in town to the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Goodwin of Norway spent Monday and Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. C. Goodwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Peabody and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Peabody and two children were in town Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orin Remick and two children of Riverton and Mrs. P. A. Corey and child of Aphthorp, N. H., spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. M. Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Moore and children of Norway, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore of Portland, and H. Walter Brown and Onie Moore of Norway have visited with Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Moore.

WEST PORTER.

L. L. Thompson has his barn up, and ready for boarding.

Mrs. Olive Weeks has visited Mr. and Mrs. Freeman D. Libby.

Tobias Libby is laid up with a lame back, but is a little better.

J. L. Libby will help L. L. Thompson a few days on his barn.

The Libby brothers will go to Westbrook to work through haying.

Rev. Ferd Ward of Berlin held services at the Center, Sunday forenoon.

L. L. Thompson while at work with a horse, struck the end of a shaft in his neck, making a bad wound.

Mrs. Mary French has returned to her home from Cornish, where she has been visiting her grand mother for a short time.

Bain is very much needed in this vicinity. Bain is trying up fast and having will rush the farmers unless we have rain soon on some lands. Haying commenced Monday the 3th, by a number in this vicinity.

Sarah J. Grover of Massachusetts, is visiting at her brother's, for a short time and will visit the old place of her childhood days. But sad changes have taken place, father and mother have gone and brother and years make changes.

Charlie Colcord from the West called on his old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Libby, Sunday afternoon. This is the first meeting for twenty-five years. He is a great horse dealer, and will capture wild ones as well as tame, and he is also a great horse rider.

Fatal Accidental Shooting. George Herriock of the firm of Herriock Bros., Bethel, machinists, while showing his new automatic gun, penetrating his leg was amputated, but he died about one hour and a half after the operation.

The Scrap Book

Then He Fled. A too convivially inclined young clubman was introduced at a reception to a clever society woman whom he understood in some hazy fashion to be a great artist. She was not an artist, nor had she ever made any attempt to be. But the young man, whose wits were apt to go woolgathering at times, thought she was, and he was very anxious to make a sufficiently pretty speech to her.

He murmured the usual conventionalities when he was presented and "You paint, don't you? So many people have told me about it," he then said ingratiatingly.

The young woman stared at him, looked him severely in the eyes, let her glance fall on every feature of his perplexed face, glared her indignation, and then she spoke.

"If I do," she remarked icily, "at least I don't make a mistake and put it on my nose."—Philadelphia Times.

Discontent. The landsman through a stormy street And shades of night was going. The ground was paved with shifting sleet, The windy winds were blowing. "Heaven pity grant and help," said he, "To those who live upon the sea!"

The sailor clinched a trembling mast Mid mountains round him flowing. The wintry winds were blowing. "Heaven save the landsman now," he said, "With chimneys toppling round his head!"

But when the world grew mild once more This tar, despondent growing, Said, "If I could but walk ashore, Though all the winds were blowing!" The landsman thought, "Though storms there be, I would that I could sail the sea!"—Will Carleton.

Going the Other Way. A St. Louis prelate is credited with this story, told by him at a recent dinner:

The head of one of the big trusts arrived at the gate of heaven and, as usual, found St. Peter on watch there. Rattled pompously the trust magnate said:

"Pardon, is heaven here?" "It is," said St. Peter. "Step right into the elevator."

After waiting for what seemed a long time the trust president said: "I beg your pardon, but when does this elevator go up?"

"It doesn't go up," said the saint. "It goes down as soon as I get a load."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Cutler Salute. Discipline aboard men-of-war belonging to tropical countries is as strict as that obtaining on the vessels of colder countries. Indeed, in some instances it is very lax.

The Defense, a Haitian naval vessel, was lying in the harbor of Port au Prince. One day a mess cook for some reason cleaned about a peck of knives and forks on the gun deck, and, being suddenly called away and not wishing to spend time to go to the galley, he seized the mess pot full of knives and forks and stuck it in the muzzle of the ten inch gun, putting the tampon in after it. About an hour afterward the admiral came aboard, and as the gun was loaded with blank cartridge they used it to fire a salute.

It happened that the gun was aimed toward the town and almost point blank at the Grand hotel. The guests had assembled on the porch to witness the ceremonies, when they were saluted with a rain of knives and forks, which stuck against the wooden walls like quills on a porcupine and drove the startled sightseers in a mad head over heels scramble indoors in fear of a possible shower of pots and pans and dishes.

A Quaint Introduction. An old Missourian recalls the quaint speech with which an old Federal soldier once introduced General James Shields to a Missouri audience. The introduction included a high tribute to Stonewall Jackson's generalship. Said the old Union soldier:

"Friends and Fellow Citizens—Allow me to introduce General James Shields, a citizen of two countries, a hero of two wars, general in two armies, a senator from two states and the man who came nearer whipping Stonewall Jackson than any other man ever did." And here, looking around and seeing no ladies in the audience, he added, "but didn't do it by a d—d sight!"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Made a Great Hit. A well known ventriloquist was invited to give a performance at a big institution in connection with some charity, and he heard that steps were being taken to insure for him a large yet critical audience, who would be close enough to watch his every movement. The night came, the attendants carried on three "lay" figures on chairs, and the ventriloquist received a great ovation from those assembled.

His performance was unusually brilliant and notwithstanding the quips and songs which he went through his muscles showed no evidences of fatigue. The changes of voice were marvelous, and the astonished crowd at the close of the exhibition gave him a rousing cheer. Again and again they called him back, while he expressed his pleasure by innumerable bows. At last the cheering ceased and the artist was permitted to retire. Hardly had he done so when the three "lay" figures got up from their chairs and walked off the stage. The ventriloquist had employed three friends to impersonate his usual mechanical figures, and he had tricked every one of his audience.

I have a few $100 bonds, pay 4 per cent, of the South Paris Village Corporation which I will sell at par and interest, P. W. Sanborn.

GOOD THING FOR YOUNG WOMEN

Many Matters of Practical Value Taught In State Colleges.

THAT matrimony is still taken seriously in the west is proved by the state agricultural colleges.

Under the heads of domestic science and of practical farming successful attempts are being made to give the young people of both sexes the right kind of education to fit them for happy marriages as well as the battles of life.

The girls learn not only how to cook, but how to sew, to market, how a house should be fitted with plumbing, and the principles of food assimilation and metabolism, therapeutic cookery and many other things of practical value.

The girls and boys are encouraged to become acquainted. The social element is carefully cultivated. Awkward boys learn the amenities belonging to the parlor and awkward girls learn how to pour tea and converse easily.

After a theory is worked out on the blackboard the students in domestic science have to prove it by actual demonstration. For instance, they have to provide dinners and luncheons for a fixed price, and these meals are served in turn to the students, who purchase tickets varying in price.

At all the best agricultural colleges a girl learns all she needs to know about a farm. Besides the usual courses in buttermaking and chicken raising she learns practical farming, zoology, chemistry, landscape and window gardening, etc. She is also taught how to paint her house and decorate her own walls.

When she leaves the college she is absolutely able to run on an economical and practical plan a home in the country either for herself or as partner to an equally energetic husband.

A new era is opening up to the farmer's wife, and it is the agricultural college which she has to thank for this.

It teaches her to do her work twice as quickly and well as her grandmother did it and have enough energy left to enjoy herself in the evenings.

It gives her enough scientific knowledge to be able to carry on the farm herself in case her parents or her husband dies.

The agricultural college, take it all the way through, is a mighty good thing for girls nowadays.

The Revival of Pewter. Everything is pewter nowadays. It has come back into fashion with a vengeance. Besides the very old fashioned utensils, like the candle lamp expression of the exquisite imprisoned essence. At the court of Queen Elizabeth of England the pomander was the most important perfume holder of the time. These balls were composed of perfumes and spices worked together with a special kind of garden mold. The pomanders seen in the cut are among a collection on exhibition in the Kensington museum, London.

Broom Pin cushion. A very dainty novelty is the broom pin cushion. For this you will require a large flat cork, a meat skewer (a new one, of course) and a few yards of baby ribbon in some bright shade.

Cut a small hole in the cork and insert the skewer firmly through it. Now wind skewer and cork together with the ribbon until they are entirely covered. Two boys on the skewer will hold the ribbon tight so far.

The broom effect you will gain by the pins. They must be driven through into the underside of the cork, holding the ribbon at that point and at the same time giving a very good imitation of a tiny metal broom. These make very nice favors at informal parties, club meetings, etc.

MAKING OF YOKES.

This Troublesome Accessory Adjusted In This Way.

The making of yokes is not an insignificant matter. It is often a puzzle even in the sewing room. Theoretically yokes are nothing but a small piece of thin material cut into a straight collar and a peplum to cover up the bare space of the neck; practically they are a nuisance, breaking up all theories, going against all rules and generally harassing those who make and those who wear them.

A good, sizable, old fashioned yoke that was cut by a waist pattern and was sewed in the blouse was not one-quarter the trouble that these tiny modern things are. They came through the universal wearing of partly low blouses, a fashion which is so insistent that women follow it in the making of their waists, then prepare a small yoke to put in when the waist is worn in the street on cold days or at any time when a low blouse is not appropriate.

Young girls who have the quality of youth in their necks can wear the collarless waist at all hours, but this freedom does not sit well on every woman. Age carries a certain degree of dignity, and the blouse with the low neck does not look quite well on women who have arrived at that time of dignity.

It is in deference to this taste that the majority of women who have good necks finish the blouse off with a V in front and a sailor collar of white or colored chiffon cloth or a round neck without a collar and then provide themselves with at least two yokes to wear when occasion demands.

It is these yokes that have caused all the trouble. How to keep them down, how to make them smooth, how to have them cleaned, are a trilogy of questions that women ask each other whenever they meet.

Even when an inch or two of this yoke shows above the neck of the blouse it requires as much harness to keep it down as to keep a horse in the shafts. This harness method is as follows: The yoke is cut to the proper depth with the collar attached. One tape is run from the middle of the front to the waist line and one from the middle of each armhole, front, to the waist, then two down the back, one on each side of the middle, and all securely sewed to a tight belt made of broad tape which hooks at the back.

Perfume Boxes. From the earliest ages perfumes and sweet odors have been enshrined in beautiful receptacles as an outward

Old Age Out of Fashion. Careful studies and measurements have shown that our time of actual maturity and arrest of growth in physical characters, such as height, weight and chest girth, is much later than formerly supposed. Instead of reaching, as was at one time confidently stated, our full height at 18, our full strength at 23 and our full chest girth at 25, as a matter of fact we continue to increase slowly in all these respects until 35, 38, and even 40 years of age.

By living a healthful, active, happy life and keeping up all our interests, we can grow old and develop and adjust ourselves and feel that we are growing until we are one day suddenly dead, without ever realizing that we are growing old or that we are growing old at all.

Already old age has gone quite out of fashion. The civilised, educated man or woman of 70 is younger than the savage of 40 or the peasant of 50. What with steady upward homes and country or suburban homes and walking clubs and golf and gardens and automobiles and travel of all sorts, those who would have been considered old once are now only 70 or 75 years young.

Not only is there no definite period in adult or later life when these so-called senile changes begin, but there is no period at which they become accelerated or start to progress at a more rapid rate than before. In fact, the extraordinary paradox exists, that what we term old age is the time of life in which we are growing old least rapidly. The only thing that makes it appear otherwise is that we have been steadily growing old all our lives long and the thousand imperceptible accumulations have mounted to a pitch which we can recognize.

A Plea for a Sane Vacation. Let me make a plea for the sane vacation. Many women go away summer after summer, utterly exhausted before a holiday begins by preparations for it. In the fall they return frazzled and nervous and physically worn out because the summer has been one long agony, trying to dress, keep house and entertain as people do who have thrice as much money as they have.

This aspiring to a Newport establishment on a Coney Island income goes on North, South, East and West all over our continent year after year.

As time goes on, it grows worse, because the daughter follows in the steps of her mother and the next generation is bound to be more lavish than the last. One thing that makes the heart ache is the thought of American men toiling and denying themselves to give such a prodigious family the only sort of vacation that seems to satisfy it.

If men, women and children could be made to understand the blissfulness of a simple holiday, the vast, migratory multitude of a Nation would learn how much more enjoyment, health and rest could be got from the simple life than from an unending effort to be "just as good" as our neighbor. Every one has to adapt advice to suit one's circumstances, still, from what one woman has learned during many seasons of "out-tagging" a few ideas may be gleaned that will prove useful.

R. B. Bradbury has a Morgan mare "Gipsy" that was 32 years old in actual age. Mr. Bradbury raised her from a colt and owned her dam. She looks fat and sleek and is turning gray from age, though originally she had but one white ankle and a strip in her face. She uses her for a driving horse still. When she comes to the village Gipsy expects a treat of candy.

FRYEBURG.
Edward Louis Osgood, retired business man of Portland, died at his home in Hopedale, Mass., Sunday forenoon, June 11, his death being the result of a shock which he suffered some three months ago. He had a winter home at 221 Beacon street, Boston, in which he was at the time of the shock. He was a member of a leading publishing firm, and in the business, political and social circles of which he was well known.
He was a native of Fryeburg, this State, and was born on Aug. 6, 1836, being the son of Edward and Abbie Ripley (Dana) Osgood. He fitted for college at Fryeburg Academy and in the Boston Latin School, and in 1858 entered Dartmouth College as a freshman in the class of 1867. He left that college at the end of his junior year, but in 1867 the university, by special vote, gave him the degree of A. B. as of the class of 1867, so that he now ranks as an alumnus of the university and his name now so appears in the catalogues of the university's alumni.
Upon leaving the university he went into business, and in the course of his life he filled many places of trust and honor. For some 10 years beginning with 1868, he was cashier for the banking firm of Drexel, Hays & Co. of Paris, France, and from 1880 to 1886 he was a member of the well-known publishing firm of James Osgood & Co., the head of which, James Ripley Osgood, was his brother.
On January 20, 1881, he married Harriet Thwing Draper of Hopedale, a daughter of the millionaire manufacturer, George Draper, and a sister of Gen. William Draper and Capt. Eben Sumner Draper. He was treasurer of the Hopedale Elastic Fabric Company from 1888 to 1891, when he retired from active business. He was a director in several manufacturing corporations, a trustee of the Parents' Endowment Association for Deaf children, and chairman of the Bancroft Memorial Library at Hopedale.
He was a member of many business, social, political, recreational and other clubs, including the Home Market, Algol, Papyrus, Country, Oakley Country, Somerset, University, Boston Press, Worcester, Middlesex, Norfolk and Massachusetts Republican clubs, and was a member of the Society of Sons of Colonial Wars.
He was a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1901 and 1902, and a member of the Massachusetts Senate in 1903 and 1904. "A Souvenir of Massachusetts Legislators" for each of those four years having one or more portraits of him. He was a Republican in politics, and in religious belief was a Unitarian.
He is survived by his wife, and by four children, Edward Dana Osgood, Fannie Colburn and Hannah Draper Osgood, (twins) and George Draper Osgood. Of the daughters, Fannie Colburn Osgood is well known as a golf player, having at one time held the eastern women's golf championship. Mr. Osgood's only son, George, was a member of the Massachusetts Senate in 1903 and 1904. "A Souvenir of Massachusetts Legislators" for each of those four years having one or more portraits of him. SOUTH WATERFORD.
Hot! Hotter!! Hottest!!!
Oak Lodge, July 4, 6 a. m., mercury 76 in shade and going up. Monday was Gettysburg, 3d day. The old flag was flying in the south breeze. We thought of the Union Army along the line from the cemetery to Round Top, and Pickett's charge and High-Water-Mark and the discomfited not yet defeated army of Northern Virginia taking up the rout step back to the bloody fields of the South. That was 43 years ago, and— "Praise God from whom all blessings flow!"
7 a. m., mercury 84, good independence weather, same for baying, and Will Goodwin is just swinging into the field in the seat of the mowing machine.
While I am digressing I will mention that about midnight an alarm was heard by the alert lady of the house, coming from a coop of young chickens in the rear of the house. The sleeping woman was quickly aroused and in less than two minutes was interviewing a polecat with a loaded shotgun, with a fat result to Mr. Skunk, but with regrets for two innocent chicks already killed.
8 a. m., 88 in shade. Symptoms of hotness.
9 a. m., 90 in shade. Hot!
Hottest for July 4, 90 in shade.

Ethel Monroe came home from West Milan, last week for the summer vacation.
Alice Hamlin is in Cambridge, Mass., attending the summer school of Harvard University.
Recent arrivals at Oak Lodge are Charles Niles and wife and David Niles and wife of Brookton, Mass.
A notable incident of the attendance at the Flag day celebration last week was a hayrack load of about 33 ladies and children from North Waterford, brought by R. R. Nason.

George Loring of Brookton, a guest of Oak Lodge for one week, with a record of a 5 1/2 pound salmon, a number of big trout and lots of bass, returned home Sunday via Sebago steamer and M. C. Ry to Portland.
Mr. and Mrs. John Monroe of Mechanic Falls are spending the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Gilnes. Mr. Monroe was a musician in Capt. M. M. Robinson's company G, 12th Maine Infantry, enlisting at 16 years of age.

Among public events of the past recalled to mind occurring in Waterford about 1847 was a celebration of Independence Day at the Flat. Only a few are living who remember it, of whom the writer is one who participated in the festivities of that occasion.
The glorious Fourth was celebrated in a very sane and proper manner, by the ringing of the school house bell at midnight and at intervals from 6 until midnight and by firing a few explosives. At midnight reports of cannon at Fryeburg were distinctly heard at the South village.
Seated on the comfortable veranda of Squire Daniel Brown, the scribe was introduced to Thomas Stone of Danvers, Mass., a native of Waterford, son of Rev. Thomas T. Stone, an eminent Congregational minister, an old time principal of Bridgton academy, who died in Bolton, Mass., in 1895, aged 94 years. Mr. Stone is visiting friends here and in Andover. I am indebted to Mr. Stone for recalling the date of an Oxford county cattle show held at Waterford Flat in a autumn of 1845. That was in the years when the Agricultural society went visiting each year as the hospitable of the various town were tendered to it. One of the interesting incidents of that fair was an entry of a premium crop of yellow corn, raised on an Androscegin interval in Bethel of 100 bushels, by Jedediah Burbank. It was a bumper crop in those days, and even now might be thought worthy of notice.
Lawrence Rexford of a deputy grand chancellor of Knights of Pythias for the 10th district of the jurisdiction of Maine, comprising the lodges of Waterford, Stoneham, Bryant Pond, South Paris, Norway and Oxford.

NORTH HARTFORD.
Very hot and dry, wells are failing.
H. B. Jacobs called at his daughter's, Sunday.
Raspberries are going to be quite plentiful in this section.
J. H. Blanchard has about thirty head of cows and calves on his farm here at present.
Mrs. Nellie McGray of Waterford, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel White, returned to her home on Saturday, taking her sister Ruth with her.
Mr. and Mrs. George Oldham and daughter Ethel of Peru passed the day Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Blanchard. Preston Barker and family were also guests at dinner there.
School closed at Tyler Corner, Saturday, after a term of nine weeks taught by Marion Tyler of Hartford. This was Miss Tyler's first term. Those not absent one-half day were Wilma Davenport and Josephine Knight.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perkins and son Frank of South Paris were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Davenport. Their visit though short was gladly received as it had been three years since they visited there before. They also visited relatives and friends in Sumner and Peru.

BRIDGTON ACADEMY PRINCIPAL.
Simon M. Hamlin of South Portland, who recently resigned as principal of South Portland high school, has been elected principal of Bridgton academy.
Mr. Hamlin has been principal of South Portland high school for the past ten years and has made a very able man for the position. Through his efforts the South Portland high school has been placed among the highest schools in the State of Maine and his work at the head of this school has been much appreciated by the citizens of South Portland.
"If Mr. Hamlin accepts the position as principal of Bridgton academy this school will obtain a very capable principal, one who understands the needs of the school boy and girl and can give satisfaction to the trustees of the institution."

WATERFORD.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind,
discourages and lessens ambition; beauty,
vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear
when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent
that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant
trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miser-
able with kidney and bladder trouble,
and both need the same great remedy.
The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar
size bottles. You may have a sample bottle
by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr.
Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Girls and Love Letters.

The advice of the old lawyer to his son was that, no matter what his relations with womankind, he should never
write a love letter and never destroy one.
It is probable that this counsel of perfect wisdom fell on deaf ears, for when any particular man is consumed by the fever for any particular woman he at once commences writing love letters.

He gushes and gasses and romances to such an extent that when he gets into a divorce case, or a breach of promise
action there is about as little hope for him as for a woman who keeps a diary.
If before dispatching their billets doux
they would ask themselves the simple question, "How will this stuff look in a law court?" they would tear up 80 per cent of their love letters as soon as they were written.

A love letter is only a joke to the man who has not written it. The one who has to pay the $10,000 damages and costs falls to see where the fun comes in.

It is one of the settled facts in the history of love letters that men will write and women will keep. A woman
cherishes her love letters as she cherishes her mirror or her powder puff.
She ties them with blue ribbons and perfumes with violet de parais. She kisses them before she goes to bed, and presses them to her bosom before she does her hair up in the morning. She reads them for weeks and knows where
to find them for years, and about the only safe thing the man who has written
them can do is to marry her.

Years after she may remind him that he told her in one of them that he could gaze into her dear eyes forever, while
now he does not stay at home long enough to gaze into them for five minutes, but she cannot sue him for breach
of promise or have his letters read in court to make him the laughing stock
of his fellow citizens.

Of all literary compositions the love
letters of men contain the most blunders and twaddle and the minimum of sense.
The only explanation is that every man in love tries to become a poet.

A woman writes more convincing love
letters than a man, because she writes
everything out of her heart, while a man
writes the weaker the head the more he slopes over. If he were to confide himself to inquiring how his adored
enjoyed herself yesterday and where she
would like to enjoy herself tomorrow,
hoping she was quite well as it left him
at present, all would be well. But that is not his way.

He vows all sorts of absurdities, pins
himself down to all sorts of pledges, and
throws in rhapsodies about her eyes,
her lips, her hair and her teeth.

A love letter ought to proceed on business lines. The fondest lover in the world cannot tell a woman more about her eyes and hair and teeth than she knows herself. Writing to his wife he may commence his letter, "My precious darling," and end it, "Your own forever," and be perfectly safe even if she has her doubts about
him; but this sort of thing to a girl he,
perhaps, dreams of making his wife in a world where there is many a slip 'twixt
the cup and the lip is not a wise insurance against accidents, to say the least.

BROWNFIELD.

Brownfield High School.
The graduating class of 1911 held their reception and dance at the Town hall.
It was largely attended and much enjoyment was furnished by the orchestra.

The second annual commencement of the Brownfield high school was held on June 23, at the Congregational church
which had been prettily decorated for the occasion with the class colors, blue and white. There was a large attendance and the following program was
much enjoyed:

Prayer.....Rev. O. W. Peterson
Music.....Mrs. Abbott
Salutatory.....Miss Sadie Sprague
Vocal solos.....Mrs. Herbert Walker
Music.....Miss May Cressy
Address.....Miss Henrietta Lister
Singing class ode.....Miss Lister
Address and presentation of diplomas.....
Music.....Miss Abbott
Benediction.....Mrs. Abbott

Grace Weeks arrived from Massachusetts and has opened her cottage for the summer.

Mr. W. L. Hodson returned from the Maine General hospital last week much improved in health.

Schools about town closed last week.
The primary and Blake schools had a picnic and appropriate closing exercises.

At the special town meeting held Saturday June 24th, it was voted not to sell
the town farm at present but an auction
will be held later to dispose of the property.

Mrs. S. E. Eaton, Mrs. C. W. Harmon
and Mrs. Andrew Black attended the graduation at Westbrook Seminary.
Frank W. Harmon was one of the graduates taking part in the annual debate.

HIRAM.

R. N. Lovell has new barn about completed.

There was a large attendance at the grange Saturday evening, June 24.
Summer boarders are arriving and automobiles are plying the main.
Children's day was observed Sunday
evening at the Congregational church.
Sunday June 25th, Rev. H. H. Hoyt delivered an interesting sermon to a large company of people at the Universalist church. Three were taken into the church.

The new came Thursday that Herbert Spring who is in Portland, Oregon,
got badly hurt in an automobile accident.
His arm was broken and also some of his ribs.

SOUTH OTISFIELD.

Henry Lombard has returned home.
Mrs. Carrie Lombard is working in Harrison.

Elmer Poland is working across
Thompson pond.
Mrs. Shackell and son have come to spend the summer at their home in this place.

Gilman Nutting is having the water
put into his house. Mr. Whitman is doing the work.

Daisy Ames, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Chute of Casco, has returned home.

Oxford Bears' Fruit Growers.

Maine fruit received another boost in
the right direction Saturday, when the Oxford Bears' Fruit Growers' Association was formed at Buckfield.

The plans for such an association
have been under way since last April and, due to the strenuous efforts of the Conant brothers, have at last materialized. When Mr. Yeaton, of the Department of Agriculture, was in Hebron
last April, he succeeded in arousing a great deal of enthusiasm among the orchardists of that section. Later the association was talked of and in order to get it started the seven Conant brothers
decided to organize, inasmuch as they have about seven thousand acres of their orchards, well cultivated, well sprayed and well taken care of generally, together
with an abundance of confidence and enthusiasm in fruit work.

The meeting was held in Buckfield, at the home of Everett Conant, the following officers were elected: A. A. Conant of Hebron, Wilson Conant of Buckfield,
George Conant of Hebron, Harry Conant
of Buckfield, G. A. Yeaton and A. R.
Gardner of Augusta.

The article of incorporation, by-laws, were drawn up, directors and officers were chosen
and the meeting duly adjourned to a near future date for the adoption of the
by-laws.

In choosing the name of the association, the "Oxford Bears" seemed particularly appropriate on account of its historical value as a land mark in that section. It has a wide spread reputation and seems to be ideal as a trade mark.

The Oxford orchards are scattered over Hebron and Buckfield in more or less close proximity to each other and
are so located that transportation is reduced to a minimum. They comprise a number of varieties, but are chiefly confined to Ben Davis, Baldwin and Spy-
glass. The Conant brothers, themselves, are widely known, energetic and progressive business men, and it is plainly evident
that things will hum in the apple line this fall.

RUMFORD CENTER.

The schools here have closed for the summer vacation.

Mrs. Ezra Martin was the guest of Mrs. C. W. Farnum, Monday afternoon.
Mark Burgess attended the auto hill
climbing race at Poland, Saturday, June 17.

A large crowd attended the strawberry
feast at the Grange hall.

Priscilla Sprague of New Castle, a former school teacher here, is visiting Mrs. Wm. Swain.

V. A. Linnell, wife and daughter,
Dora, called on Anna and Jennie Farnum,
Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Geo. Kimball visited her sisters,
Mrs. N. D. Akers of Virginia and Mrs.
P. P. Small, Tuesday, June 24th.

Mrs. Nancy Colby has been a guest of Mr. J. E. Martin at Rumford, and attended the graduation there.

Margie Oglehorne, who has been at work for Mrs. P. H. Lovejoy, has returned to her home in New Brunswick.

The third and fourth degrees in the Grange here at Rumford Center were
conferred upon three candidates.

George Swain, Alice Merrill, Ruth

Preston Fox and bought a team of F.
C. Fetter.

A band of gypsies passed through this place the 26th, making quite a little excitement.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Huntress and two children spent Sunday with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Simon Stanley.

Fryeburg.

Fryeburg Academy Graduation.
A typical commencement at the old
academy—a school that for over a century has been sending out boys and girls
capably trained to continue their education in college and seminary. The decorations in the Congregational church
were beautiful in their simplicity. A heavy border of omunda, eagle and
ostrich ferns surrounded the platform.
Above the hedge of ferns were quantities
of buttercups, thus carrying out the colors chosen by the class of 1911—green
and gold.

The program published last week was finely carried out. Dr. Seth C. Gordon presented the diplomas.

The class parts were all of interest
and well delivered, especially excellent
were those of Little Bassett, Marjorie Trickey, Katherine Potter and Edith Whittaker. It is not often that a class includes ability along the musical line to offer piano and vocal music of so high an order as that contributed by Mollie Whittaker. Music was also furnished by Mrs. Jordan's orchestra of Portland.

The prizes were awarded:
Girls' improvement—Mary Hall.
Boys' improvement—Frank Shaw.
Wardens, equally divided—Noah Riley, Albert Monitton, Katherine Wadsworth.
Heavy border of omunda, eagle and ostrich ferns, equally divided. Girls, Dora Pittman, Blanche Ballard, equally divided.
Herbert A. John W. Kerr.
Susan Southern Page Medal, excellency in English—Edith Whittaker.

Piano quartet, O'er hill and dale, Engleman.
Edna Chase, Edna Ellis, Marguerite McKee, Helen Garland.
The day of judgment.....Viola Benton
Tops.....Lucy Stearns
Spartan's ride.....Idella Hill
Virginia to the Romans.....Leslie Chipman
Veto, let's have a victory.....Charlotte Pike Joshua Allen's diration.....Archie Hurd
The going of the white swan.....Doris Pittman
Lincoln's second inaugural address.....Mendelssohn Margerie Trickey, Blanche Ballard, Mollie Hutchins, Doris Pittman.

The judges were Mrs. Ellen M. Mason, North Conway, N. H.; A. F. Avery, principal of Litching academy and Eva Churchill of the Emerson College of Oratory.

The awards were as follows:
Doris Pittman, first prize; Archie Hurd second; Viola Benton, third; Wallace Whittaker, fourth.

Arthur Hullin is at home from Milton Academy.

Hattie Pike of Waltham has returned to Fryeburg for the summer.

Prof. W. A. Robinson has come to Fryeburg to spend the summer.

Harry McKensie of Boston has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Cameron.

Quimby Evans and wife of New York are visiting Mrs. C. A. McKee and Mrs.
Oliver Hutchins.

The track meet which was held on the fair grounds resulted in a score of 53 to 58 in favor of the juniors.

A reception was given Mrs. Susan Merrill at the Frye House by the members of the faculty and their husbands and wives. Mrs. Merrill severer her connection with Fryeburg Academy this year. She will be greatly missed as she was always a favorite teacher.

SOUTH ALBANY.

Walter Caswell and family recently visited at George Abbott's.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Abbott of Waterford were at George Abbott's, Sunday.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind,
discourages and lessens ambition; beauty,
vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear
when the kidneys are out of order or dis-
eased.

that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of
these important organs. This unpleasant
the kidneys and bladder and not to a
habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miser-
able with kidney and bladder trouble,
and both need the same great remedy.
The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold
by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar
size bottles. You may have a sample bottle
about Swamp-Root.

Among the graduates of the Medical School of Maine at Brunswick this year

Girls and Love Letters.

son was that, no matter what his relations with womankind, he should never
write a love letter and never destroy one.
It is probable that this counsel of perfect wisdom fell on deaf ears, for when any particular man is consumed with desire for any particular woman he at once commences writing love letters.

He gushes and gasses and romances to
such an extent that when he gets into a
divorce case, or a breach of promise
suit, there is about as little hope for
him as for a woman who keeps a diary.
If before dispatching their billets doux
they would ask themselves the simple
question, "How will this stuff look in a
law court?" they would tear up 80 per cent of their love letters as soon as they
were written.

A love letter is only a joke to the man who has not written it. The one who has to pay the $10,000 damages and costs fails to see where the fun comes in.

It is one of the settled facts in the history of love letters that men will
write and women will keep. A woman
cherishes her love letters as she cher-
ishes her mirror or her powder puff.
She ties them with blue ribbons and perfumes with violet de parmes. She kisses them before she goes to bed, and
presses them to her bosom before she
reads them for weeks and knows where
to find them for years, and about the
only safe thing the man who has written them can do is to make sure they are not found.

Years after she may remind him that
he told her in one of them that he could
gaze into her dear eyes forever, while
now he does not stay at home long
enough to gaze into them for five minutes, but she cannot sue him for breach
of promise or have his letters read in
court to make him the laughing stock
of his fellow citizens.

letters of men contain the most twaddle and the least amount of sense. The only explanation is that every man in love tries to become a poet.

A woman writes more convincing love
letters than a man, because she writes
everything out of her heart, while a man
writes anything which comes into his head and the weaker the head the more he slips over. If he were to confide
himself to inquiring how his adored
enjoyed herself yesterday and where she
would like to enjoy herself tomorrow,
hoping she was quite well as it left him,
it would be well. But that is not his way.

He vows all sorts of absurdities, pins
himself down to all sorts of pledges, and
throws in rhapsodies about her eyes,
her lips, her hair and her teeth.

A love letter ought to proceed on business lines. The fondest lover in the world cannot tell a woman more about her eyes and hair and teeth than she knows herself. Writing to his wife he may commence his letter, "My precious darling," and end it, "Your own forever," and be perfectly
safe even if she has her doubts about
him; but this sort of thing to a girl he,
perhaps, dreams of making his wife in a
world where there is many a slip 'twixt
the cup and the lip is not a wise insurance against accidents, to say the least.

BROWNFIELD.

Brownfield High School.
The graduating class of 1911 held their
reception and dances at the Town hall.
It was largely attended and much enjoyed. Music was furnished by Coolbrith's orchestra.

The second annual commencement of
the Brownfield high school was held on June 23, at the Congregational church
which had been prettily decorated for the occasion with the class colors green
and white. There was a large attendance and the following program was
much enjoyed:

Music.....Mrs. A. B. Abbott
Satisfactory Session.....Mrs. Herbert Walker
Vocal solo.....Mrs. Herbert Walker
Music.....Hattie May Cressy

Singing class ode.....Prin. Fred W. Files
Address and presentation of diploma.....Mrs. A. B. Abbott
Benediction.....Mrs. A. B. Abbott

Grace Weeks arrived from Massachusetts and has opened her cottage for the summer.

Mrs. W. L. Hodson returned from the Maine General hospital last week much
improved in health.

Schools about town closed last week.
The primary and Blake schools had a
picnic and appropriate closing exercises.

At the special town meeting held Saturday June 24th, it was voted not to sell
the town farm at present but an auction
will be held later to dispose of the property.

Mrs. S. E. Eaton, Mrs. C. W. Harmon
and Mrs. Andrew Black attended the graduation at Westbrook Seminary.

Frank W. Harmon was one of the graduates taking part in the annual debate.

HIRAM.

R. N. Lowell has new barn about completed.

There was a large attendance at the
grange Saturday evening, June 24.

Summer boarders are arriving and automobiles are plowing the main.

Children's day was observed Sunday
evening at the Congregational church.

Sunday June 25th, Rev. H. H. Hoyt delivered an interesting sermon to a large
company of people at the Universalist church. Three were taken into the church.

The news came Thursday that Hor-
bert Spring who is in Portland, Oregon,
got badly hurt in an automobile accident.
One arm was broken and also some of his ribs.

SOUTH OTISFIELD.

Henry Lombard has returned home.
Mrs. Carrie Lombard is working in Harrison.

Elmer Poland is working across
Thompson pond.
Mrs. Shackell and son have come to spend the summer at their home in this
place.

Gilman Nutting is having the water
put into his house. Mr. Whitman is doing the work.
Daisy Ames, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Chute of Casco, has returned home.

Oxford Bears' Fruit Growers.

the right direction Saturday, when the Oxford Bears Fruit Growers' Association was formed at Buckfield.

The plans for such an association
were first suggested by Mr. A. C. Conant of Hebron, due to the strenuous efforts of the Conant brothers, have at last materialized. When Mr. Yeaton, of the Department of Agriculture, was in Hebron
last April, he succeeded in arousing a
great deal of enthusiasm among the
orchardists of that section. Later the
association was talked of and in order to get it started the seven Conant brothers
decided to organize, inasmuch as they have about seven thousand trees of their own, well cultivated, well sprayed and
well taken care of generally, together
with an abundance of confidence and enthusiasm in fruit work.

The meeting was held in Buckfield at
the home of Everett Conant, the following were present: A. C. Conant of Hebron, Wilson Conant of Buckfield,
George Conant of Hebron, Harry Conant
of Buckfield, G. A. Yeaton and A. K.
Gardner of Augusta. The articles of incorporation and by-laws were drawn up, directors and officers were chosen
and the meeting duly adjourned to a
near future date for the adoption of the
by-laws.

In choosing the name of the association, the "Oxford Bears" seemed to be particularly appropriate on account of
its historical value as a land mark in that section. It has a wide spread
reputation and seems to be ideal as a
trade mark.

The Conant orchards are scattered over Hebron and Buckfield in more or less close proximity to each other and
are so located that transportation is reduced to a minimum. They comprise a number of varieties, but are chiefly confined to Ben Davis, Baldwin and Spy-
glass. The Conant brothers, themselves, are wideawake, energetic and progressive
business men, and it is plainly evident
that things will hum in the apple line
this fall.

RUMFORD CENTER.

The schools here have closed for the
summer vacation.

Mrs. Ezra Martin was the guest of Mrs. C. W. Farnum, Monday afternoon.

Mark Burgess attended the auto hill
17.

A large crowd attended the strawberry
festival at the Grange hall.

Priscilla Sprague of New Castle, a
former school teacher here, is visiting
Mrs. Wm. Swain.

V. A. Linnell, wife and daughter,
Dora, called on Anna and Jennie Farnum,
Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Geo. Kimball visited her sisters,
Mrs. N. D. Akers of Virginia and Mrs.
P. F. Small, Tuesday, June 24th.

Mrs. Nancy Colby has been a guest of Mrs. J. E. Martin at Rumford, and attended the graduation there.

Margie Ogleborne, who has been at work for Mrs. P. H. Lovejoy, has re-
turned to her home in New Brunswick.

The third and fourth degrees in the Grange here at Rumford Center were

George Swain, Alice Merrill, Ruth
Haywood, F. Priscilla Sprague and Neal
Abbott again attended the 25th week of Geo. Kimball and wife.

June 25th—Rev. J. R. Alvey delivered a sermon to the Knights of Pythias of the Oxford Bear lodge, Hanover, at the Universalist church at Rum-ford Point, at half past two o'clock.

Chester Doloff of Portland was a guest at the home of his mother, Mrs. Susan Doloff, June 25th. Mrs. Chester Doloff, who has been visiting here for a few weeks, returned with Mr. Doloff to Portland, Monday.

SOUTH HIRAM.

Massachusetts to spend a few days with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs.
John Stanley.

EAST SUMNER.

Tolman Bonney is ill with a fever.

Will Bryant was in Rumford over Sunday.

Inez Bean is working at E. L. Rue-sel's.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Harlow are at home, after spending a week at Harps-well.

Ozern Wagner has moved his family into the house owned by Dr. J. B.
Roberts.

Little Evelyn Poland has been spending a week in Sumner with her grandmother.

All roads led to Buckfield to the commencement exercises at the High school, Thursday, the 22d. About thirty people from this place were in attendance.

FRYEBURG.

Fryeburg Academy Graduation.
A typical commencement at the old
academy—a school that for over a century has been sending out boys and girls
capably trained to continue their education in college and seminary. The decorations in the Congregational church
were beautiful in their simplicity. A
heavy border of omunda, eagle and
ostrich ferns surrounded the platform.
Above the hedge of ferns were quantities
of buttercups, thus carrying out the colors chosen by the class of 1911—green
and gold.

The program published last week was
finely carried out. Dr. Seth C. Gordon
presented the diplomas.

The class parts were all of interest
and well delivered, especially excellent
were those of Lolita Bassett, Marjorie Trickey, Katherine Potter and Edith
Whittaker. It is not often that a class
includes ability along the musical line to
offer piano and vocal music of so high an
order as that contributed by Mollie Hutchins. Music was also furnished by
Mrs. Jordan's orchestra of Portland.
Mrs. Jordan is a Fryeburg girl.

The prizes were awarded:
Girls' improvement—Mary Hall.
Boys' improvement—Frank Shaw.
Wrestling, equally divided—Noah Riley, Albert Moulton, Katherine Wadsworth.
Chess, equally divided—Noah Kimball, equally divided. Girls, Dora Pittman, Blanche Ballard, equally divided.

GREENWOOD.
A Good Fish.
To young Loring Roberts belongs the distinction of securing the largest fish taken from Overst Pond this season, a landlocked salmon, tipping the scales at exactly four pounds. This was early in the morning of July 3d.
Loring, after catching several small ones that by law had to be consigned to their native element again, got some- what discouraged, as he has been a very persistent fisher at the pond this season, with a catch up to the date mentioned of just two trout that cleared the law.
He had, however in the mean time secured a live minnow about four inches long and attached him to his hook.
With this bait he fished diligently for some time without results and was about to give up when low, and behold, something was doing in that immediate vicinity that made the other fishermen on the shore and those in a nearby boat sit up and take notice. A rush through the water accompanied by the whizzing of the line of the reel, then a jump full three feet clear of the water and all had a first view of the beauty thirty feet away.
There was excitement in plenty. Mind you, Mr. Salmon was hooked on a com- mon number three Kirby hook and there wasn't a landing net in the crowd.
How to get the fish was a problem; but soon solved as the fish was about- ing all kinds of advice to Loring about the best method of playing his fish. Arthur Cummings, improvised a land- ing net out of a narrow board and a green sweater.
By this time the struggles of the fish had nearly ceased and upon the second attempt the sweater was dipped under him and he was triumphantly landed in the boat.
It was then discovered that in one of his jumps from the water, he had securely fastened a half hitch of the line around both jaws. Had this not happened the chances are, with the gear that Loring was fishing with he could not have handled him in this way. Yes and then some more. Loring feels pretty big and for one we do not blame him.

Arthur Cummings came up from Portland to remain until after the Fourth.
Iva Ring of Portland visited friends and relatives in town last week, return- ing to Portland, Sunday.
Daniel Davis, quite a number of years ago a resident of the town, is visiting old scenes and friends that he formerly knew.
Mrs. S. Farr is in very poor health. The physicians who have been her attendants are inclined to think she has cancer of stomach.
A July 4th celebration at the City this year with the usual features includ- ing two ball games and a grand ball in the evening.
R. S. Martin sold his farm at the Center, to B. Billings, Bryant Pond. In time all the shore front will prob- ably be sold for obitige lots.
A little rain would be appreciated by our farmer friends. This broiling weather, while pushing the crops along rapidly at this time, is pulling the mois- ture from Mother Earth at a great rate. It is only a matter of a few days before the effect of the protracted dry weather will be severely felt.
Schools in town closed Friday, June 30th after a very successful term in practical every district. Anna Deegan, teacher in the Martin district has gone to Hebron to work in the Sanatorium. Elva Keedull, teacher at the city school has returned to her home in Bethel. It is understood she will do table work at Old Orchard this summer.

Victor L. Jordan of Mechanic Falls and Dell Giddings of Minot were at the Harrison House several days the past week.
Mrs. Frank Gray of Garden City, Cuba, is a guest at Wallace Caswell's. Mr. Gray is at present in Boston, but will come here later.
The State road inspector, or Com- missioner Geo. A. Carpenter of Limerick, was in town, Wednesday, to consult with Road Commissioner Geo. A. Flint and the select men of our town, in re- gard to the building of the State road here.
Anna Burnside of Providence, R. I., arrived Thursday, at the Harrison House for the season. Miss Burnside has a beautiful contralto voice and will sing a solo every Sunday afternoon at the Congregational church while she is in town.

BOLSTER'S MILLS.
Henry Wilbur is stopping at A. R. Clark's.
Samuel Kneeland recently visited at George Cummings.
Jason Scribner visited his brother, Fred Scribner, Saturday.
Grover Edwards had some interior repairs done on his house.
George Cummings and wife with Mr. Kneeland and wife visited Poland Spring, making the trip by auto.
Mrs. Mary Hazen received a visit Sunday, from her two daughters, Bertha and Annie, of Portland.
Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Howe, Mrs. Brack- ett Small and Mary E. Hock, of South Portland, visited friends and relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Howe, Sunday.
Mrs. Tillingham is expected to deliver a temperance address at the church here next Sabbath evening, the 9th inst, under the auspices of the W. O. T. U.
Rev. W. P. Lord addressed the people at an open-air service, Sabbath evening, held on A. R. Clark's lawn. He spoke of civic and religious liberties as an appropriate theme near Independence day. A large audience gathered.
George Cummings has entertained his cousin, Thomas Kneeland and wife, from Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. Kneeland is a native of Harrison and is a promi- nent member of the city, and has served in the State legislature two terms. It has been twenty years since Mr. Kneeland came to Maine. He tells you corresponded that Maine far surpasses Minnesota in natural scenery.

GREENWOOD.
A Good Fish.
To young Loring Roberts belongs the distinction of securing the largest fish taken from Overst Pond this season, a landlocked salmon, tipping the scales at exactly four pounds. This was early in the morning of July 3d.
Loring, after catching several small ones that by law had to be consigned to their native element again, got some- what discouraged, as he has been a very persistent fisher at the pond this season, with a catch up to the date mentioned of just two trout that cleared the law.
With this bait he fished diligently for some time without results and was about to give up when low, and behold, something was doing in that immediate vicinity that made the other fishermen on the shore and those in a nearby boat sit up and take notice. A rush through the water accompanied by the whizzing of the line of the reel, then a jump full three feet clear of the water and all had a first view of the beauty thirty feet away.
There was excitement in plenty. Mind you, Mr. Salmon was hooked on a com- mon number three Kirby hook and there wasn't a landing net in the crowd.
How to get the fish was a problem; but soon solved as the fish was about- ing all kinds of advice to Loring about the best method of playing his fish. Arthur Cummings, improvised a land- ing net out of a narrow board and a green sweater.
By this time the struggles of the fish had nearly ceased and upon the second attempt the sweater was dipped under him and he was triumphantly landed in the boat.
It was then discovered that in one of his jumps from the water, he had securely fastened a half hitch of the line around both jaws. Had this not happened the chances are, with the gear that Loring was fishing with he could not have handled him in this way. Yes and then some more. Loring feels pretty big and for one we do not blame him.

Proper Bed Making.
To make a bed as a trained nurse does, tuck the under sheet under care- fully and tightly at both ends. On the sides, at each corner, fold it back care- fully in the same way that paper wrap- pings are folded at the corners of a pack- age. Then tuck the sides in. Lay on the other sheet and the blanket and tuck in at the foot in the same way and draw tightly under at the sides.
"Is it hot enough for you?" was the universal question Sunday.
